

Frog Survival Game

Each player starts as an egg, then tadpole, then grows back legs, grows front legs, then loses tail as it exits the pond. Now we are ready to begin the game!

Lily-pads are placed randomly around the playing field. Each player rolls a dice to determine how many hops to take to the next lily-pad. When the player lands, they read the "experience" printed on the bottom of the lily-pad. Based on the experience, the player either gains or loses a point.

Judges keep track of players scores and a total is tallied at the end to determine which frogs survived!

Here is a master list of possible experiences:
